

Specialist employment lawyers working inhouse with you

What is it?

LEWIS SILKINHOUSE is a well established and popular service from Lewis Silkin. It is designed for the growing number of businesses with an existing inhouse legal resource, for those times when you have a surge of work, a large people project or need cover for an existing team member's absence.

Our service is what it says, having your own Lewis Silkin specialist employment lawyer or paralegal, working inhouse for you, for periods of one month upwards to become an integrated part of your team. You can be sure of the quality of our specialist employment lawyer, they will be Lewis Silkin employees and fully integrated into our leading employment law team, and will avoid the cost of hiring a permanent member of staff.

A thoroughly flexible service

Whatever your need we can provide you with a highly trained specialist employment lawyer or paralegal at the level that matches your needs.

Our specialists will arrive equipped with appropriate levels of legal experience and the commercial sense they'll need to get the job done gained from working with other organisations and industries in private practice and inhouse.

We realise that flexibility will be attractive to you, and are happy to discuss different ways of working. Our lawyers are highly motivated, flexible and can work in the way that suits you – full time or part time, on location or virtually, fixed or variable hours or any other way of fitting in with your work patterns and needs.

How much will it cost?

You can expect to have our highly trained lawyers and paralegals at very reasonable rates. The particular terms will depend on the level of the specialist seconded to you and how long you want them for. We anticipate that there will be considerable savings, as well as significant flexibility, over hiring a permanent lawyer, with the added bonus that our lawyers will be fully trained and knowledgeable about employment law.

Our team of lawyers

Our skilled, expert LEWIS SILKINHOUSE lawyers work solely on in house secondments. They are our employees and are fully integrated into the employment team and benefit from the continued training and support of our leading employment law service.

Our lawyers have worked in house in a wide range of industry sectors including in global investment banking and financial services institutions; a multinational oil and gas company; a global management consulting firm; an international technology company; a business oriented social networking corporation; a professional services firm; professional bodies; and a national broadcasting corporation. The work carried out by the team is equally diverse including advising on employment law matters, as well as commercial and strategic issues, across EMEA; practical hands on management of high value and commercially sensitive litigation and guiding a client through a complex restructuring exercise.

Are there any conditions?

Only one: each assignment must be for a minimum period of one month. Otherwise, we are flexible!
